Reno for Rio Bonito.

Am willing to trade Rio Bonito lands in Butte county, California, for two or three town lots, or for a house and lot in Reno. It is believed that Rio Bonito property will increase in value 100 per cent within two years. There are no richer lands in the world than the Feather river bottom lands, good for oranges, lemons, peaches, apricots and other fruits without irrigation. This is an excellent opportunity for speculation, or to get a home in one of the best spots in California. Will be in Reno for a few days, and will be pleased to meet all those who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not be there your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed us, you may depend upon. eow

CUTTING DIAMONDS.

The Delicate and Difficult Art of Making a Brilliant Gem.

"The majority of the people who take any interest in diamonds imagine that the cutting of the stone is the most difficult part," said a jeweler. "This is not true, however. The cutting is comparatively easy, but when it comes to the polishing the most skilful work has to be done."

The only diamond cutting and polishing establishment west of New York is in Chicago, and a newspaper of that city tells what processes they follow out there.

"In America we are far ahead of the old Dutch process," said its informant. "Here we use iron and steel machinery, while the Dutch still use the crude wooden machines.

"In Holland the only object is to cut a stone so as to have it weigh as much as possible. Not so with us. We aim to turn out a brilliant and beautiful stone.

"The value of a diamond is estimated by the amount of fire in it, and not by its weight. Not long ago we cut a four-carat stone down to three carats, and its value was increased over $100.

"A crude stone may be very fine, but if the workman does not bring out its brilliancy it is not worth anything. A diamond in the rough may be a pure, sparkling gem, but if placed in the hands of an unskilled workman it will not be any more brilliant than an ordinary piece of glass.

"The first process the rough stones pass through is the 'cleaving.' This is what most everybody calls cutting. A chisel is used to cleave off the rough parts, and the cleavage is made into diamond dust.

"Then comes the tedious part. Two diamonds are employed, each cemented into the end of a stick. The stones are then rubbed together with a strong pressure. This requires considerable experience. As it can only be done by hand it also requires considerable muscle.

"After this process the skill of the expert is tried. The gem is placed in a solder setting and is then fastened to a piece of wood about two feet long. A steel wheel eighteen inches in diameter, making 2,500 revolutions a minute, is used as the polisher. The stone in the wood is so arranged as to be balanced on and against the wheel, producing only a slight friction. Diamond dust is used on the wheel.

"An expert can tell in a minute as soon as the polishing of a facet is completed. Sometimes there are knots in the gems, and their hardness cannot be imagined. One of our workmen was four weeks polishing down one facet containing a knot, and on all the others combined he was but four days. The stones sometimes contain as many as sixty facets.

"The forms usually adopted in cutting the diamond are the brilliant, the rose and the table.

"The first form shows the gem to the best advantage. It is composed of a principal face, called the table, surmounted by a number of facets which are cut upon that part of the stone which shows above the setting, and which is called the bezel. The rose, which is very brilliant, is flat below, and cut into facets entirely over the upper surface.

"Our diamonds are obtained by importing direct from South Africa. The American market takes the best gems produced in the fields.

"No gem is so little understood as the diamond, and stones of off colors and containing flaws are easily disposed of to the purchaser. Therefore a person buying a diamond should purchase of reliable dealers who have reputations which they cannot afford to lose.

"The gems are worth from $10 to $100 a carat and a slight shade in color will make a difference of $50 a carat. The shade cannot be detected by the customer and he is left at the mercy of the dealer.

"We find a great field now in the recutting of stones. The Dutch do not seem to be able to get all the brilliancy out of a stone, and our business in diamond-cutting is principally in polishing off a half-carat and even a carat. Stones that did not seem to contain any fire at all have been turned out as brilliant as could be wished."

THE NIGHT-SHIRT POCKET

A Small Boy Makes a Magazine of It.

The precocity of eight-year-old boys has often been the theme for newspaper comment, but I think I know of one who is entitled to particular distinction for his brightness. The other day he importuned his mamma for a night-shirt, "just like papa's," with a pocket in it. His mother made him one, and the first night he wore it he went to bed in high glee.

In the morning, when his mother took the robe off she found in the one pocket a couple of seed cakes, three matches, a toothpick, a small silver watch, several pieces of cough candy and the boy's pocket handkerchief. When the little fellow was questioned as to the reason for the very varied assortment, he replied:

"Well, I thought if I got hungry in the night time I would need the seed cakes, and of course I'd want the toothpick afterward; if I wanted to see what time it was by my watch I would have to have a match, and I was afraid of coughing, so I put the candy there."

His excuses were equal to his preparations at any rate.

Dismal Humorists.

We have rather too many dismal humorists in literature just now.

The success of a few genuine humorists has tempted whole flocks of dullards into the fields of fun, and they are fast converting it into a literary cemetery, peopled with the ghosts of departed pleasantries.

If funny lecturers and funny sketch writers would only give us the dead jokes of long ago in their habits as they lived, the resurrection would be more tolerable; but they dress them up to suit their own conceits, and in so doing take all the laugh out of them.—New York Ledger.

Two Ways of Looking at It.

"When you ask for my daughter, young man," said the young lady's father, "do you know you are asking a great sacrifice of me?"

"N-not necessarily, sir," responded Mr. Hankinson, somewhat embarrassed but anxious to reassure the old man. "Mamie says she doesn't care for an expensive wedding."

PLATFORM AND RESOLUTIONS

The following platform and resolutions were adopted by the Republican State Convention, which convened at Winnemucca on the 15th instant:

Resolved, That the Republicans of the State of Nevada, in Convention assembled, again express their loyalty to the principles of the Republican party, which have made this country so great and prosperous during the last quarter of a century.

I.

Resolved, That the question of a sufficient supply of circulating medium to maintain a permanent range of the price of labor and property is the most important political question awaiting solution by the American people.

That a diminishing quantity of money reduces the price of labor and property, enriches the creditor, impoverishes the debtor, and paralyzes industry and enterprise.

That the present financial system of the United States, which increases or diminishes the circulating medium at the pleasure of the manipulators of the national banks, without regard to the increase of population or the wants of the people, and which recognizes gold alone as the standard of value, and places in the hands of the Treasury Department all the revenue of the Government to speculate with in bonds and loan to the national banks without interest, is subversive of the rights of the people, oppressive, unjust and should be repudiated.

That a financial policy whereby both gold and silver shall form the basis of circulation, whether the money used by the people be coin, or coin certificates redeemable in coin, or both, as convenience may require, is imperatively demanded.

That the attempt to substitute national bank notes, costing the Government millions of dollars annually, for free silver, costing nothing, is an outrage upon the people; that the money ring or trust which has usurped the sovereign power of the Government to issue money, and which has fraudulently demonetized silver and seized the revenues of the Government for private speculation, shocks the moral sense of the people and destroys respect for government and law. We demand that this ring or trust be destroyed, and equal rights be restored to all the people.

We charge that President Cleveland is the willing tool or agent of a powerful money ring, which fattens on the subsidies of the Government, makes war on silver, issues its paper currency at the expense of the Government, borrows the revenues raised by taxation and uses them without the payment of interest contracts the currency to enhance the value of bonds, and enriches bankers, while it depresses the price of labor and property.

That we favor the nomination of no man for President who is personally interested in national banks or the bonded indebtedness of the United States, but we demand a candidate who is free to do justice to all the people of the country—the poor as well as the rich.

That the trick of the President and his advisers by which they prevented a vote in the House of Representatives on the Beck silver amendment to the Bond Purchase bill, equals the villainy of the secret and fraudulent demonetization of silver in 1873.

II.

Resolved, That we are in favor of the protection of home industry, and that the laborer of this country have a right to all he work required to supply the people of the United States, and that we are in favor of high wages, and to that end will protect the wage-workers from competition with the cheap labor of other lands.

Resolved, That the policy of the Government should be inaugurated and established by the people through their representatives in both houses of Congress, and not by the President or money trust, of which he, either as agent or head, is most active in defending.

III.

We charge President Cleveland with violating every promise he made in favor of civil service reform, with crippling the mail service, with refusing to sign necessary bills for the improvement of rivers and harbors, with using the power of his administration to prevent appropriations for navy and coast defenses, with attempting to destroy the protective tariff, with courting the good will of other nations at the expense of the citizens of the United States, and with joining the foreign bondholders to demonetize silver and destroy the industries of his own country, and for the reduction of the wages of the Mint employes at Carson, for closing the Carson Mint when it was not only self-sustaining but a source of revenue to the Government, for his contemptuous vetoes of bills for the relief of disabled soldiers and sailors, and for failing to construct the Government building at Carson as required by law.

IV.

We are in favor of the absolute exclusion of Chinese, and of the restriction of immigration by which the overcharged condition of the labor market is made worse, and we favor legislation by which a revision of our naturalization and land laws may be accomplished.

V.

We demand in behalf of our various industries the retention of the duties on lead borax, soda, hides and leather, and to restore the tariff of 1 67 on wool.

VI.

Resolved, That we recognize the right of labor to organize for its lawful protection.

VII.

We favor the appropriations by Congress for hydrographical and topographical surveys in this State, to the end that the waste waters may be preserved for the purpose of irrigation.

VIII.

We endorse the wise and conservative administration of Governor Stevenson, and we heartily commend the able efforts of Senators Jones and Stewart and Representative Coodburn in behalf of the interests of this State.

IX.

We favor the granting to Nevada of all Government land within the State for the purpose of providing means for irrigation and other improvements.

X.

We favor the reduction of the Treasury surplus by the payment of pensions to Union soldiers, their widows and orphans, the improvement of rivers and harbors, the building of defenses for the sea coast, the erection of public buildings, the creation of a navy, the purchase of bonds and the repeal of the internal revenue laws taxing tobacco.

XI.

It is the duty of this State to maintain free, non-sectarian schools in the rural and sparsely settled districts, as well as in towns and thickly populated sections, and that such division of the school money shall be made as will furnish the means of education to all children of the State.

XII.

We are in favor of reopening the Carson Mint for coinage and raising the wages of its employes to the standard paid by the last administration.

XIII.

We demand the restoration of the mail service in this late to the efficiency maintained by the last Republican administration, and favor the payment of fair wages to all postal employes.

The President's Threat.

Even so grave a matter as the discussion of the fisheries treaty has its ridiculous phase, and Mr. Cleveland furnishes it. Annoyed at the prospective rejection of the cherished treaty which was all his own work, he threatens the Senate that if it is not ratified he will be obliged to exercise the power given him under the "Reprisals Act." The Reprisals Act was framed and passed by the Republicans of the Senate. It armed the President with full powers of retaliation, and was designed to be used. Had it been used there would have been no occasion for the groveling, truckling and bargaining through which the Administration dragged the nation, and which resulted in offering to the Senate for approval an instrument which is a waiver and concessions of our most cherished rights. The threat of exercising his powers under the Reprisal Act is a ludicrous showing of the intense desire of Mr. Cleveland to have the treaty accepted. If, instead of appointing his unwarranted commission to draft the treaty, Mr. Cleveland had done in the first instance what he threatens the Senate with doing now, all would have been well. Does the President think the Senate passed the Reprisals Act for style and not for business? He seems to.

The Mills Bill.

The Oakland Times discusses the Mills bill in the following manner: The present duty on wool is 55 per cent. The Mills bill makes it free. The present duty on lumber is 17 per cent. The Mills bill makes it free. The present duty on fruits is 35 per cent. The Mills bill makes them free. But when it comes to rice, the product of a Democratic State, the Mills bill demands 100 per cent duty. For another product of a Democratic State, sugar, it demands 68 per cent. People can draw their own conclusions. Yet, the Democrats would have the people believe that the logical outcome of this movement is not free trade. The Republicans, on the contrary, would remove the internal revenue tax upon tobacco and alcohol used in the arts, and finish the diminution of the revenue by removing the duty from some such necessity as sugar, but one-tenth of which is produced in this country.

THE report of First Assistant Postmaster-General Stevenson, covering the three full years of Cleveland's administration, shows, says the Oakland Times, that there have been 58,288 changes of postmasters. As there are only some fifty-six thousand postoffices, the figures indicate that he had to remove some of his own appointees. Doubtless their partisanship was not sufficiently offensive.

"THE Lion and the Unicorn have taken the stump for Cleveland," says Patrick Ford, and adds that it is not likely to hurt Harrison and Morton in the eyes of the Irish. Nor in the eyes of any true American citizens, it may be added.

Democratic Senators.

WASHINGTON, August 16.—The Democratic Senators held a caucus this morning to decide upon the order of business for the remainder of the session. A committee was appointed to determine what measures of legislation now pending before the Senate should be take up and urged for passage before adjournment. This committee will report at a future caucus. The caucus also decided not to filibuster against the Fisheries Treaty.

THE AMERICAN PARTY.

The Temporary Organization Adopted for the Permanent One.

NEW YORK, August 15.—Yesterday's afternoon session of the American party was quite a lively affair, as trouble arose over the question as to whether each delegate should cast a vote or each State should cast one. New York wanted each delegate to have a vote, in which case she would be able to run the convention as she pleased. After a fight of nearly two hours the matter went over until to-day.

The Committee on Permanent Organization met last night and adjourned within half an hour, having adopted the temporary organization for the permanent one. P. D. Wigginton was made Chairman and Bassett of California Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions.

The attendance at the convention has been greatly over-estimated, as only 128 delegates were present at yesterday's meeting and but a few more are expected. Of this number New York has sent sixty-eight.

A WRANGLE FOR CONTROL.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—There were about one hundred and fifty delegates and visitors at the reassembling of the American party Convention this morning. The Committee on Platform and Permanent Organization made its report and the circus began.

The majority of the committee reported in favor of continuing the temporary organization, while the minority desired that Chicago should have the Permanent Chairman and New York be allowed to select the candidate of the convention for President.

After a long wrangle, in the course of which Wigginton attempted to pour oil upon the troubled waters, the report of the majority of the committee was adopted.

Two platforms were then presented, the essential points of difference being that the majority report favored the repeal of all naturalization laws, while the minority favored five years' residence, as the condition precedent of naturalization. The minority declared in favor of reading the Bible in the public schools, but the majority was opposed to this.

The convention took a recess until 1:30 P. M., when a letter from ex-Congressman Negley of Pennsylvania was read, expressing his sympathy with the American party movement and his approval of the plans of the convention. As Negley is spoken of as a possible nominee of the convention, his letter was construed to mean that he would accept the nomination if it was tendered him.

S. E. Church of New York read a long address on crimes and the purposes of the American party.

The wrangling was then resumed upon the basis of representation.

The fight is New York against the field.

New York is represented with seventy-eight votes and her delegates outnumber those of all other States represented. The majority report favors the cutting down of her representation one half. This the New York delegates strenuously resist. It was openly charged that it was the purpose of many delegates to prevent any nomination for the President and Vice President from being made.

FISHERIES TREATY.

Morgan of Alabama Makes a Holy Show of Himself

WASHINGTON, August 15.—The Senate to-day resumed consideration of the Fisheries treaty, Morgan speaking in favor of the motion to postpone further consideration until December.

In the course of the colloquy, and after some allusion to the Yankees on one side and the ex-slave holders on the other, between Senators Morgan, Frye, Dawes and Hawley, Morgan said: "You have not hesitated to sneer at us and say we are rebels, traitors, men not to be trusted, and who violated our oaths and attacked the national flag—men whose consciences are burned with political sin; that we all deserve to be hanged, and that we are living now by your mercy and grace, and I have only said that you did not dare hang any of us. You had Jefferson Davis under arrest and the U. S. Government did not dare bring him to trial, because it would have turned out in the opinion of the great jurists who would have had to try him that he had not committed treason."

The Iowa State Register publishes a roll of nearly nine hundred and ninety Tippecanoe voters within its parish who are for Harrison and Morton.

BLAINE AT HOME.

Enthusiastically Welcomed by the Citizens of Augusta.

AUGUSTA, August 15.—The Blaine train arrived at Augusta at 8:45 o'clock last night. The front of the depot was a solid block of humanity, shouting wildly a welcome home. Bands and torches made a light and noise. Illuminations were seen in almost every window. Near the Augusta House was a hugh triumphal arch of evergreens and American flags, with the words "Welcome Home" in large letters of gas jets.

"HOME, SWEET HOME."

Mr. Blaine's house was encircled by great halo of light from many illuminations. Mr. Blaine rode in a carriage drawn by four white horses. As he stepped on his own grounds the band played "Home, Sweet Home," and he was loudly cheered as he walked to the platform, accompanied by the Reception Committee. Hon. W. P. Whitehouse then welcomed Blaine in a hearty address. In response Mr. Blaine delivered a characteristic address. At the conclusion of Blaine's address the proceedings were brought to a close by a display of fireworks and music.

Outlaws as Lynchers.

HOLBROOK, A. T., August 16.—Information has reached here of the lynching of James Stott, James Scott and Jeff Wilson by outlaws in the southwestern part of this county. The affair grew out of the recent war in the Tonto Basin between sheep and cattlemen.

Warrants were issued and arrests made by unauthorized persons and the prisoners were taken across the mountains into Yavapi county, where they were met by a prearranged mob of outlaws and hung.

A Terrible Fate.

LIVERMORE, August 16.—Lizzie J. Byrnes, the 15-year-old daughter of J. E. Byrnes, a machinist at the railroad shops, West Oakland, was burned to death at her father's ranch, San Antonio Valley, last Monday. She was washing and had a block fire near the house, when a gust of wind blew the fire against her clothing. Her injuries caused death in a short time. She suffered great agony.

The Boss Prevaricator.

PARIS, August 15.—Madame Adam declares that the reports and documents published in Nouville Reve, consisting of an alleged report from Bismarck to Emperor Frederick in relation to the marriage of the Princess Victoria and Prince Alexander of Battenburg, are authentic. She declares that Bismarck is the most impudent liar in the world.

MILLIONS IN IT.

A Heavy Suit to be Brought Against the Eureka Con. Mine.

The Virginia Chronicle says papers are now being prepared preliminary to a suit to be brought in the District Court of Eureka county entitled Kleupfer Brothers vs. Eureka Consolidated Mining Company.

Plaintiffs demand an accounting of the amount of bullion realized from ore alleged to have been unlawfully removed from the Eureka Consolidated dump which the plaintiffs allege they purchased many years ago. Owing to financial reverses the working of the ore was abandoned until they could acquire the necessary capital to operate. In the disastrous fire which laid the town of Eureka in ashes several years ago the record of the sale is said to have been destroyed, but a copy of it is alleged to be extant on the books of the company in San Francisco.

The bullion realized from the ore alleged to have been unlawfully removed from the dump by the Eureka Consolidated Company and converted to its use is variously estimated at from $500,000 to $1,500,000.

Colonel M. N. Stone is attorney for the plaintiffs, and J. M. Douglas, the well-known capitalist, who is said to have indisputable proof of the sale to Kleupfer Brothers, the purchase money having passed through his hands, the receipts therefor being now in his possession, is furnishing "the sinews of war."

POLITICAL POINTS.

The New York Sun has written a Democratic platform for 1892. It has only one word—"Democracy." Nobody need misunderstand that platform.

General Harrison's references to the Tariff and Protection in his speeches to his visitors have been exceedingly well put, and they have elicited a response which bodes ill for the Free Traders.

The Democrats are congratulating themselves on capturing Dr. Norvin Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and Jay Gould, the potentate thereof. It is the millions against the masses.

James A. Walker of Wytheville, Virginia, who was Lieutenant Governor of the State under the Democratic rule of Governor Holiday, says he can not stand Free Trade, and cannot vote for Cleveland.

In Waynesboro, Penn., where immense machine-shops, employing 1,000 hands, are located, there is said to be a regular landslide of Democrats away from Cleveland to the support of Harrison, Morton and Protection.

Radburn C. Wells of Athens, Ga., a prominent capitalist and a recent convert of the Republican party, says: I think Cleveland's message and the St Louis platform will change the majority in at least one Southern State. There is more truth in the breaking up of the Solid South than most Northern people believe."

Fourteen staunch Democrats in the town of Jerusalem, Yates county, N. Y., have joined the Harrison and Morton Club at that place. They are wool-growers, and complain that their unwashed wool brings only 15 cents a pound, and the Free-trade wool has been pulled over their eyes long enough and that they will stand in the Protection ranks in the future.

Woman's Relief.

"Earth has no sorrow that heaven cannot heal," whether arising from physical, mental, or moral sources. The promises and consolations of the gospel furnish abundant remedies for all spiritual or mental woes, and the Creator has stored, in the kingdom of nature, remedies for every physical ailment. For ages these remedies were allowed to lie dormant, through the ignorance of mankind as to their uses, and for ages more but little attention was given to remedies for the peculiar affections of woman, who was looked upon and treated as a slave by lordly, and then brutal man, and her suffering regarded with beastly indifference. In later times, science and Christian philantropy have come to her relief, devising remedies for her peculiar weakness, which have been combined in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a remedy that cures the pains, aches, nausea, displacements, wasting and debilitating afflictions to which she is constantly exposed. "Favorite Prescription" is the only remedy for woman, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

NO RODEO.

The Objections Raised by the Directors of the State Fair.

At its last meeting the Board of Directors of the State Agricultural Society considered the subject of riding wild horses and rodeoing cattle, and the objection was made by some of the members that the fences and buildings at the grounds were not such as to make it safe. One member reminded the Board that in a similar exhibition at Sacramento a few years ago, some one was killed, and there was danger of a similar incident here Everyone who had been spoken to seems anxious to see some such a feature added to the Fair, and the cowboys are all willing to ride, but they would prefer a programme involving more skill, such as picking up the rope, catching rings, or taking a rooster off the ground at full speed. Considerable training would be necessary, but if the trustees would give a year's notice, so the horses could be drilled, an interesting show would be the result.

Caused by the Sawdust.

NEVADANS IN CALIFORNIA.

Charley Rawson's Indignation Because the Dudes Play Cheap Pool—Interesting Personal Items.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15, 1888.

"This is getting to be the most pickayunish town I ever saw," said Charley Rawson of Virginia City to me the other day, when we met on Market street.

"Why, what's the matter now?"

"Enough's the matter. You can see it everywhere. Last night I saw a lot of hightoned bloods playing pin pool at a nickel a ball. What do you think of that? Isn't that small potatoes and few in a hill? Just think of it. Why in the old days anybody that would have dared to do such a thing as that would have been tarred and feathered. Yet these fellows were dudes, real dudes, by Jove, with plug hats and stripped trousers, speckled shirts and white collars. A nickel a ball, bah! They ought to have been at home playing pins or out among the kindergarten, saying 'Hulgul, handful, how many?' These fellows thought they were gambling, I dare say, and staid up till nearly 10 o'clock at night squandering their nickels in this reckless way, besides bracing up on a soda fizz once in awhile."

All efforts to pacify my friend Rawson were in vain. He said he didn't believe in gambling—he had got over that, but if anyone pretended to gamble at all, let him do it like a man.

Most people, especially most Nevada people, will agree with Mr Rawson, but the tendency in the great cities is towards what he complains of.

The people are encouraged to get into the habit of spending their money in dribs, whether in gambling or buying real estate. There is scarcely a thing in the market which may not be bought at retail, down to the smallest amount. If you do not wish to purchase a sack of flour of a bag of potatoes, well and good; the dealer will let you have a quarter's worth or even five cent's worth. That's what all the shopkeepers are hoping for. They desire the constant flow of dimes and nickels which will bring a big bank account to such as will have the good fortune to sit in the seats of toll takers. The minor expenses of city life are what count in the long run. They are what keep the majority of people poor. The dealers are so anxious to have people buy in small lots that they have decreased the size of the loaves of bread, the peanut sacks and the beer glasses. Schooners are almost unknown in San Francisco.

There are a great many Nevada people in California. I meet them every day. Most of them are fairly successful. As a general thing the Nevada people rank well in the industries and the many trying situations which characterize the vicissitudes of life in a great city..

[There. How's that sentence. Doesn't it sound as if it had been written by Otto Greenhood? I rather flatter myself it does ]

By the way, Otto is still in Portland, Oregon, I am told, and is doing good newspaper work there. Once, after I had returned from a sheep-driving trip with Dan Wheeler, Otto asked me where I had been and I told him I had been in Oregon. With his usual Roman Senatorial sang froid he looked me calmly in the eye and asked: "What do the people of Oregon say about me." Salty Boardman, who used to live in Virginia City and afterwards in Oregon, is now in Leadville, Colorado, and is a member of the Methodist Church.

But this is a digression.

I started in to tell about how well some of our old-time Nevada people are getting along

Take Senator Fair, for instance. See how he has made his mark as a banker. He's got more money right now than all the rest of the bonanza firm; so they say. He got his experience in banking here in San Francisco. To be sure, he had a few dollars when he came here, but the talent which he had "hath been increased an hundred fold." Then he made money by keeping out of the wheat pool. That was another sample of his Nevada luck and sagebrush judgment. Somebody tried to make people believe that John Mackay lost a million or two in that deal, but he denies it; and as he ought to know, I am not inclined to dispute with him.

Speaking of Mackay, he's another Nevada man who has done well here. Look at that big building he helped to put up next to the California Market. And he named it the Nevada Block, too; but of course everybody knows all about that.

Then think of the Mackay cable. He might have lived a century on the side of Mount Davidson and never thought of putting his money in such a scheme. If any Comstock readers doubt this let them answer this question: Did they ever think of doing it?

But Mackay and Fair are not the only Nevada men who have succeeded There's Jack Hallinan who runs a theater and Ned Foster, his partner, who runs half a dozen shows and watering places. Both have plug hats and money.

Captain T. G. Taylor of Gold Hill is another instance. He lives in ease in a fine residence on Nob Hill.

Sam Rankin who used to be an operator in the Western Union office at Virginia is at the head of the San Francisco telephone system and has an army of pretty telephone girls under his command. What do you think of that for promotion?

Arthur McEwen, at different times connected with the GAZETTE, the Gold Hill News and the Virginia Chronicle is managing editor of the Examiner. Ed. Townsend, who also used to be on the Chronicle is business manager of the Examiner.

Prof. J. N. Flint who taught school and wrote for all the Comstock papers, is teaching school in Marin county. I see him once in a while. He looks first rate.

Charley Conwell, who was known by everybody in Gold Hill, is doing well in the dentistry business.

Carl H. P. Coan, for many years business manager and dramatic and art critic of the Enterprise, is still connected with journalism, being a member of the Alta California's staff.

W. W. Byrne, who was Treasurer at the Carson Mint under Uncle Jim Crawford, is also on the Alta.

Jim Orndorff, who used to be associated with Jack Magee in the Delta saloon at Virginia City, has a half interest in the finest saloon in America. It is on Market street in Miss Jennie Flood's building. She signed the papers giving them a lease for five years. The saloon is called the Cafe Royal, and is so gorgeously furnished and decorated that ladies and their escorts frequently visit it just to look at it. These visits are of so common occurrence that the billiard and pool players pay no attention to them any more, but go right along punching the balls and ordering the drinks just as if nothing had happened, Cy Lean, who used to be in Virginia City, is one of the bar tenders at the Cafe Royal.

I notice that the Bay City Market has a new sign. It reads "Mark Strouse, Proprietor," instead of "Derby & Strouse," as it did formerly.

Hon. Tom Rickey told me the other day that he had heard from several old-time Democrats who have deserted Cleveland and are going to vote for Harrison. One of these is Dick Kelly, who was a stock broker in partnership with Bob Hofer in Carson, before Johnny Skaes' Sierra Nevada fish barbecue. Hank Mitchell of Eureka, at one time Democratic Representative in Congress from Nevada, is also reported among the reformed ones.

WELLS DRURY.

WARRING CARPENTERS.

Edward Gallagher Seriously Cuts George Travers with a Chisel.

Yesterday afternoon a row occurred among carpenters employed at the new fair grounds and in a fracas which resulted Ed. Gallagher inflicted a serious wound with a chisel in the left groin of George Travers. The row, from all accounts, was a lively one, and originated over a contract for shingling the sheds, etc., which the latter alleges existed between himself and Gallagher. Travers states that Gallagher and his partner, Barber, desired to abrogate the contract, and when he demurred abused him. One word led to another, and finally to blows. Travers then alleges that Gallagher seized a handaxe, and evinced the utmost desire to cleave his skull in twain with it. In self-defense he (Travers) picked up a 2x4 scantling and retreated into a stall where he held the fort. By mutual agreement the gladiators dropped their weapons and resorted to those which Nature had provided them with. After showing each other how little they knew about the manly art, Gallagher kicked Travers, which caused that individual to again arm himself with a scantling. Gallagher thereupon retreated to the tool house, shortly after reappearing with a chisel. The men again quarreled, and at an opportune moment Gallagher drew the chisel from his pocket and slashed Travers in the left groin producing a painful and probably dangerous weund. This put a stop to the warfare and Gallagher did every thing in his power for his wounded antagonist, even going so far as to sew up the wound with a common needle and thread. Subsequently Dr. Thoma took charge of the case, and has strong hopes of bringing the patient out all right. Gallagher, shortly after the cutting, was arrested and placed in the county jail, where he now is.

WADSWORTH.

Washoe County's Model Railroad Town.

Wadsworth is peculiarly a railroad town, and there is no other village in the State that takes more pride in keeping up with the times than the citizens of that place. Four years ago, the old town, including the railroad buildings, was razed, only a few houses escaping the ravages of the flames. The site was changed to the west side of the river and the energy and taste of the residents and liberality of the railroad have converted the once desert into a most beautiful spot.

The Mechanics and Engineers Library to the largest and best, outside the State Library, in Nevada.

The adults and children are more devoted to books than any like number, probably, anywhere west of the Rocky Mountains. Through the combined efforts of the ladies and gentlemen, they have erected near the railroad bridge on the banks of the river on a lot donated by the railroad, a neat little church, 28x40 feet, which is to be open to the advocates of all shades of belief.

The old school house has been torn down and removed to an acre lot, the north side of the track, and is being enlarged to meet the present and growing demand for more room for educational purposes. Prof. Hummel, who has been principal of the schools there for years, will preside in this temple of learning this coming year.

For neatness, taste, order and practical intelligence Washoe county's railroad town is a worthy model.

Fire Alarms.

Chief Engineer Thyes has arranged the following signals for the guidance of the fire department:

Fire alarm—Lively jingle of engine-house bell.

Yard engine fire alarm—Three short and two long whistles.

Call of companies, meetings and drills—four taps of fire bell, repeated three times; interval between each, one-half minute.

Fire engine signals—Turn on water, one whistle; turn off water, two whistles. These signals must at all times be given by engineers previous to turning on or off water.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

WATER! WATER!!

The Cry Which is Heard From the Rocky Mountains to the Sierra.

Everywhere between the Rocky Mountains and the Sierra we are now hearing the cry of "Water, water!" In all this region water is as good as gold, and those who have it have that which is a good to draw upon as an inexhaustible gold mine. Those who have secured good and permanent supplies of water anywhere within the Great Basin region see and appreciate this, and it will not be long before the Government will see it. When the matter of the expenditure of the trifle of $350,000 for surveys for the sites of reservoirs came up last week in the Senate, Senator Plumb had fears, it would seem, that the Mississippi river would be dried up. The big storage reservoirs of India, Ceylon and other countries where irrigation is practiced have not dried up the rivers, but on the contrary have been a means of regulating the flow of the rivers—of keeping a certain amount of water in the rivers at all seasons. The Egyptians have not yet dried up the Nile, nor the people of Arabia, Assyria and Lombardy their systems of rivers.

However, if the people of the older States are afraid of drying up the Mississippi river, there are plenty of other places where they can make a beginning. Indeed, before touching the great tributaries of the "Father of Waters," they will do well to learn something of the business of reservoir building by commencing upon some of the small streams in the Great Basin region. Plenty of places can be found in which to begin the practice of such engineering. When the Government has water to sell there will be plenty of persons ready to take it and pay well for it. It will be found a paying investment for all time. A time will come when appropriations of millions will be voted with less talk than we now hear about $250,000.

By constructing large reservoirs in suitable localities, the Government will be doing a good thing for itself and for the people, particularly for men of small means who desire to build up homes for themselves. In this way the land will be divided up among small holders, which is for the good of the whole country. That is a thing which every true and patriotic American wishes to see. We cannot have too many small holders of land. A man of small means may know where he can find as much good land as he can till and may also know where an ample supply of water is obtainable, but he cannot command the amount of capital necessary to bring the two together. Meantime, a rich man, or perhaps several men of capital, come along and take the whole thing, land, water and all. In this way falls into the hands of one man, or three or four men, what should have gone to make good comfortable homes for forty or fifty families. Instead of being a free and independent land owner, the man of small means is left to stand biting straws as poor as ever. Not being able to bring in water and build up a home of his own, all he can do is to go work as a servant and dependent of those who have secured water and, of course, all the land the water commands.

Where Government stores up a supply of water sufficient to properly irrigate a certain area of land, be the tract large or small, it can be more densely populated than any tract of land in the United States that is dependent upon the natural rainfall and the vicissitudes of the seasons. However densely populated the tract may be, there will be no fear of a famine.

DAN DEQUILLE.

A SUCCESS.

Entertainment of Fidelity Lodge, No. 4, I. O. G. T., Last Evening.

The entertainment given last evening at the Nevada Theater, by Fidelity Lodge, No. 4, I. O. G. T., was well attended by an appreciative audience of ladies and gentlemen. The musical and literary programme was given in full and occupied the evening until 9:30 o'clock, being just long enough to be fully enjoyed without being tiresome. The solos, both instrumental and vocal, awakened hearty applause, and while all the participants acquitted themselves exceedingly well, space forbids extended mention. The singing by Misses, Ada Finlayson, and Crissie Andrews, and Mrs. C. J. Brookins, proved a musical treat, as shown by the applause following the rendering of each. The recitations by Miss Ione Gould, Mr. F. H. Norcross, and "Sheridan's Ride" by Charles A. Norcross, were well given and heartily applauded. But the feature of the evening was the solo, with banjo accompaniment, by Master Sammy Doten, which brought down the house and called for an encore.

After the closing of the exercises the floor was cleared for dancing, and refreshments, consisting of ice cream and lemonade, served at the call of the pleasure seekers. Altogether an enjoyable evening was spent, and the entertertainment proved a financial success.

Trout Dying of Thirst.

Amos Conkey is responsible for the statement that trout have been seen leaving the river channel in search of water. He says that he saw droves of them this morning making further attempts to reach the ditches aligning the river bank, and that scores of them perished in the attempt. He also avers that a critical examination of the deceased disclosed the fact that their noses were sunburned and that all had perished from thirst.

Deputy Sheriff Hayes corroborates Mr. Conkey's statement, and added that he himself had gathered a bushel or so of the delicious trout, and found most of them cooked to a turn by coming in contact with the heated rocks in the bed of the river.

DRESS DESIGNING.

A Bright Woman Who Makes $65 a Week Supplying Fashion Sketches.

One of the successful dress designers of New York City is a woman not yet 30. She supplies a large number of the fashion sketches issued with the fashion sheet of a big pattern house and she earns $65 a week at her trade.

"It is something," she said, "that only a few women, and not half a dozen men, can do.

"For me, I often walk the streets till I get my idea. In an hour on Broadway or Fifth avenue, I catch a hint from the draping of a skirt that suggests something to me, or I see a combination of colors of a novel use of some fabric that sets my mind working in a new direction.

"Then I go home and make a wash drawing. It may not embody anything that I have seen or it may take hints from twenty different costumes. To be fit for use as a pattern supplement it must be original, it must be up with the times, but not too far ahead of prevailing ideas, and it must be practicable, that is it must be such that an ordinary dressmaker or a woman with a knack for cutting her own gowns can reproduce it without too much trouble.

"If I am sure I am on the right track and want to be certain of turning out something especially clever, I get the material for such a dress as I am thinking of and get a girl of good figure to try it upon. I stand her up in the middle of the floor and I stick in pins and pull out pins and try this effect and that effect and some other effect for maybe three hours at a time.

"It's tiresome work, but I always feel repaid, if it ends by being a love of a gown.

"Sometimes it won't come to suit me, and then I lie awake half the night and plan how I will compel it to be the confection I want in the morning. When I get it I sketch it and color it and write directions for cutting the pattern for it without a minute's delay.

"I've designed some hundreds of dresses, and I have seen them walking about on hundreds of women. I always feel bad if they don't take care of my dresses, too."

THE ANIMAL MILLENNIUM.

Capacity of Our Dumb Friends for a High Degree of Intelligence.

"I do not go the extent of some scientists," said a distinguished student of the animal kingdom recently, "in the opinion that a time will ever come when the lower animals will possess the power of speech, but I firmly believe that in a few generations certain of these animals will advance to a wonderful degree in the matter of intelligence.

"Experiments have been already made in England which demonstrate that some of them are capable of almost everything except to speak. Shepherd dogs have been taught to count and, at the order of their master, will bring back a certain number of sheep from the pasture, if credence is to be placed in the reports which have been made from time to time within the last few years and which bear the stamp of authenticity.

"In order that the education of animals like cats, dogs and horses, which have already shown a certain degree of mentality, may be brought to the highest state of perfection it is necessary that the more intelligent of these brutes should be kept apart from others of their kind and should be interbred, while their offspring should be treated in the same way.

"A horse trainer of national renown told me not long ago that he had been working on that theory for many years, and that he found the offspring of trick horses were much more easily taught than those which came from animals never trained in the ring.

"The associations with which an animal is surrounded have a wonderful effect upon its mental development, even though no special pains have been taken to educate it, as is the case with our common household pets which have for generations been subjected to gentle influences. Yet the progenitors of these domestic animals once roamed the forest as wild and untamed as the panther in the Indian jungles, and even now are found wild and ferocious in certain parts of the world.

"How, then, can we forecast the extent to which they can be educated during the myriads of ages of the future?"

THE COST OF STOPPING A TRAIN.

An Exact Computation and a Surprising Result.

Said a well known engineer on the New York Central railroad the other day, talking with a reporter:

"It is not generally known what loss of power is involved in the starting and stopping of an ordinary train of cars. There is required about twice as much power to stop a train as to start one, the loss of power depending upon the momentum.

"A train going at the rate of 60 miles an hour can, by means of the Westinghouse airbrake, be stopped within 120 yards from the first application of the brake. Now, enough power is lost to carry this same train 15 miles over a plane surface.

"First, there is the momentum acquired by the train flying at this remarkable rate of speed, then the loss of steam in applying the brakes, and lastly, but not least, the extra amount of coal to compensate for all these losses.

"By computation I have ascertained that every complete stop involves a cost of $1.17."

MANHATTAN ATHLETIC CLUB.

The Plans for the Most Perfect Club-House in the World.

Plans for the finest athletic club house in the world have been drawn by order of the Board of Governors of the Manhattan Athletic Club of New York. By the 1st of next May an edifice of noble proportions, and adding to the architectural beauty of Madison avenue and Forty-fifth street, will be completed. The facade of the building will be imposing and the general architectural design of the Renaissance period, dashed with a little flamboyant Gothic. But the beauty of the exterior will not compare with the elegance and the refined sumptuousness of the interior. The confirmed sybarite, the hardened athlete and the refined scholar will find a paradise within in the various apartments fitted up for the pleasure and benefit of the 800 members.

Knew Them Only on Paper.

Summer boarder—"What's that yellow stuff you are feeding the chickens?"

Farmer—"That's corn, mister."

"What is this in this bin?"

"That's wheat."

"Humph! What are these other things?"

"Rye, oats, barley—say, mister, what's your business when at home in Chicago?"

"I am a grain speculator."

THE COSTLIEST BEAN.

Description of the Mexican Vanilla Bean—Where and How It Grows.

The plant producing the vanilla bean, which, by the way, is the costliest bean on earth, is one of the rarest of any that furnish flavors, odors or flowers; for only very peculiar soil, climate and cultivation have yet insured its highest qualities for any considerable time.

Misautta, a city of Mexico, situated in the centre of a valley surrounded by mountains some 6,000 feet above the level of the sea, is supposed to be the original home of vanilla. It has been found in various parts of Central America, both north and south, but in no place possessing qualities so rich and rare as in the valley of Misautta.

Ingenious, painstaking and scientific Frenchmen have cultivated it on the Island of Mauritius, and were successful in producing a fair imitation of vanilla which they termed the "Bourbon" bean for which they found a market in England and France, but the crop of each succeeding year deteriorated until it sold for less than half the price of the genuine vanilla bean from its original home in Mexico, where it has been from time immemorial cultivated and prepared for the market by the native Mexican.

The native Mexican plants it near the base of a scrub oak to which he fastens its vine. It produces no fruit during the first four seasons. After that it bears fruit for eleven or twelve years.

The fruit or pod grows in large clusters similar to those of the banana. Its blossoms are in clusters much like our lilac, but white in color; and in fragrance wonderfully rich, exceeding that of the tube rose. The pod at first is large and green like the banana, but when ripe, it soon shrinks until it has a dry and withered appearance. All its virtues and excellences seem to be absorbed in the bean.

These receive numerous manipulations from the native producers. These patient, diligent workers affirm the absolute necessity of a ninety days' handling in order to ripen and retain the best qualities of the vanilla bean. They expose them to the sun for a certain length of time and then place layers of them between blankets until the alternate layers of blankets and fruit form a large pile and in this condition they undergo a "sweating process."

Thus several times each day they are exposed alternately to the sun and the blanket covering until all moisture is removed. They are thus handled until each bean attains the color of a very dark cigar.

Notwithstanding all this sweating and drying process the bean must be kept in rooms or vaults where the temperature of the air must be so uniform as to avoid all extremes of heat, cold, moisture or dryness.

The tonka beans grown in South America, are often palmed off upon the unwary as genuine vanilla. The tonka is aromatic in odor and strong in taste. It is good to perfume snuff and to scent clothes to preserve them from the ravages of the moth, but a wretched substitute for the vanilla bean.

The tonka is worth fifty to sixty cents a pound, while vanilla commands a ready sale at from $12 to $14.

Last year the vicinity of Misautta alone exported sixty million beans, the great portion of which reached New York. They are used by druggists and confectioners, and are a very important article of commerce.

WHERE THE DEFECT LAY.

A Brother Forces the Colored Preacher's Resignation.

There is a colored congregation of Methodists, who, until a couple of months ago, were led in the paths of rectitude by a very young preacher.

He was a fluent son of Ham and the length of the words he hurled at his hearers was only limited by his lungs at one effort.

This was all very well for a time, but when the elders of the church saw that the argument adduced did not draw the erring ones nearer to the big white throne a change was decided upon and a committee of one was appointed to ask for the preacher's resignation.

When the errand had been stated the preacher indignantly asked what the congregation expected for nothing.

"Waal, now, doan' yo' see, we dussent expect——"

"Isn't my character away up yan above procrastination?"

"No trouble 'bout dat; but say, yer isn't fur enuf eddicated to——"

"Kaint I talk confluently enuf ter suit the most rapashus?"

"Dat's it, chile, dat's it; hole right on whar y'ar now. Yo' kin talk and yo' kin talk, but yo' doan't pint out; yo' kin argify and yo' kin argify, but yo' doan't show wharin."

The resignation was handed in directly.—Kansas City Star.

Learn from the Quakers.

The Quakers have many habits and customs that "worldly" people would profit by imitating.

They do nothing unnecessary, and save labor and wear and tear of mind whenever they can. When tools are hung up against a wall there the shape of the tools is painted against the wall, so that when a tool is removed and not returned the silent monitor remains.

Where a hammer, saw, or monkey wrench is hung up there its shadow is painted so that if the real hammer is gone the painted hammer remains to remind the owner that the borrowed tool has not been returned.—Boston Fibre and Fabric.

A Great Mistake.

"Pa," said Johnny, who is a persistent knowledge seeker, "what is a lawgiver?"

"There isn't any such thing, Johnny," replied the old gentleman, who had been involved in considerable litigation.

"But this book says a man was a great lawgiver."

"It's a mistake. Law is never given. It's always retailed in mighty small quantities at mighty high figures."—Merchant Traveler.

Only One of Her Kind.

Wellington has a young lady whose name should slide down the banisters of time as the only one of the kind in existence.

She recently returned a pair of shoes to the dealer with the complaint that they were two sizes too small.—Wellington (Kan.) Quid Nunc.
